

Kevin 'KAL' Kallaugher

Editorial Cartoonist
The Economist

Political Cartoonist and Satirist

A master of political caricatures – using the power of satire in political commentary.

Professional experience

- Based in Baltimore, Kevin Kallaugher, or “KAL” as he is universally known, has been the man behind The Economist's satirical cartoons since 1978, depicting key global events each week. Combined with 10 years previously working in London as a cartoonist, KAL's unique skill and experience is recognized around the world.

Books, Published papers, Media

- Editorial Cartoonist for The Economist and The Baltimore Sun and previously The Observer, The Sunday Telegraph, Today and The Mail on Sunday. His work has been published in all the great international newspapers of the world.

Sample assignments

- KAL speaks passionately about his work in front of educational and media audiences, as well conducting professional engagements at conferences and corporate events, with such presentations as The Stand-up Cartoonist, Laughing at Power and Satire and the Freedom of Expression.

Kevin 'KAL' Kallaugher - Personal bio-data

- Editorial Cartoonist, The Economist.
- Returned to the U.S. in 1988 to join The Baltimore Sun as its editorial cartoonist and continues to draw for The Economist.
- In March 1978, The Economist recruited him to become their first resident cartoonist in their 145 year history after ten years working in London as a cartoonist for The Observer, The Sunday Telegraph, Today and The Mail on Sunday.
- Past President of the Association of American Editorial Cartoonists and the Cartoonists Rights Network International.
- Graduated from Harvard College with honours in Visual and Environmental Studies in 1977.

Client testimonials

“Commanding a masterful style, Kallaugher stands among the premier caricaturists of the (twentieth) century.” The World Encyclopedia of Cartoons

